

Quality Policy

DTMT is a Western Australian based company providing procurement, installation, construction and project management services for civil and associated building and engineering works throughout Australia.

DTMT and its management are committed to setting objectives and targets to measure our performance for continual improvement to ensure we deliver a quality product that meets or exceeds our customers expectations.

“DTMT GETTING THE JOB DONE RIGHT, THE FIRST TIME”

This objective can only be achieved with the cooperation of every individual (management, staff member, employee or subcontractor) associated with this company.

In order to ensure achievement of this quality goal, DTMT has established a quality management system which meets the requirements of ISO 9001-2015 to promote our quality standards, train our people, resource our quality system, record our production, and substantiate our quality claims.

DTMT believes that by continual improvement of the quality management system and delivering a superior quality product to Clients can our future success be assured in this competitive industry.

DTMT therefore asks and expects all individuals at all levels within the company to actively support our quality management system.
